COMPLAINT FOR DECLARATORY AND INJUNCTIVE RELIEF

INTRODUCTION

1. The Continuum of Care (CoC) program, administered by Defendant U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), is Congress's primary response to homelessness, supporting housing and other essential services for hundreds of thousands of formerly unhoused people, including many disabled and older individuals, veterans, and families. The backbone of the CoC program is funding permanent housing and, along with it, supporting long-term community stability. It promotes this housing stability by prioritizing the renewals of local, effective projects and guarding against dramatic funding fluctuations for each community from year to year. This approach provides stability for the individuals and families it serves, promotes safer communities, and reduces burdens on local law enforcement, hospital, and emergency shelter resources.

2. Across five presidential administrations, the CoC program has employed strategies proven effective to reduce homelessness. For years that has meant an approach that emphasizes stable, permanent housing.

3. Last year, HUD took a series of actions that threatened to upend the CoC program. That included issuing two notices of funding opportunity (NOFOs) for FY 2025 CoC funding that would have abandoned Congress's focus on permanent housing and stability and imposed ideological and other conditions that undermined the program. This Court preliminarily stayed those NOFOs, and later entered final judgment setting the FY 2025 NOFOs aside.

4. Now HUD is back at it. On June 1, the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) issued a new NOFO, for FY 2026, that once again would radically upend the program in ways contrary to Congress's design. If implemented, this NOFO threatens to force tens of thousands of people back into homelessness.

5. The latest NOFO again seeks to defund strategies Congress identified as effective and to unjustifiably withhold funding from existing projects—while also arbitrarily and capriciously pushing approaches that are ineffective and even harmful.

6. Without authorization, the FY 2026 NOFO sets aside a whopping $1.3 billion—nearly one-third of available funds—for new projects only, despite Congress’s command that appropriated funds be available to renew existing projects, and despite the fact that this set-aside guarantees that significant numbers of existing projects will be ineligible for renewal, no matter how effective.

7. Further, the NOFO heavily prioritizes new transitional housing and supportive-services-only projects for that $1.3 billion set-aside: New permanent housing projects can receive a share only in the unlikely event that money remains after HUD makes awards to all transitional housing and supportive-services-only projects that applied. This approach flies in the face of Congress’s express requirement that incentives like that be available only to two specified permanent housing activities that Congress deemed to have proven effective, unless HUD undertakes notice and comment and determines, based on research, that other strategies have also proven effective—which HUD has not done.

8. The NOFO also adopts a host of selection criteria that will effectively force communities to abandon evidence-based strategies in favor of unproven, ineffective, and even harmful ones. And it forces grantees to agree to comply with requirements that have little or nothing to do with the CoC program—including by committing to adhere to executive orders that, among other things, seek to eradicate lawful diversity, equity, and inclusion initiatives; reject transgender and nonbinary individuals’ right to safely exist; and coerce jurisdictions to help with federal immigration enforcement.

9. This new NOFO will cause devastating and irreparable harms to Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff associations' members, to communities' efforts to address homelessness, and to the people who rely on CoC-funded programs for housing and other support.

10. HUD's FY 2026 NOFO violates the Administrative Procedure Act and the Constitution and must be set aside.

11. At the same time, HUD still has not met its obligation to make FY 2025 awards that are by now long overdue. Earlier this year, Congress stepped in to restore some stability to the program in the wake of HUD's actions—and effectively required HUD to award FY 2025 funds by just renewing all expiring grants for another year. Congress passed that law on February 3, 2026, but HUD still has not finalized those congressionally mandated awards—leaving projects without funding and further disrupting the nation's flagship homelessness response program. This, too, violates the Administrative Procedure Act.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

12. The Court has subject-matter jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1331 because the claims arise under federal law, and because Defendants are United States agencies and officials, 28 U.S.C. § 1346(a)(2).

13. This Court has authority to enter a declaratory judgment and to provide temporary, preliminary, and permanent statutory and injunctive relief pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 57 and 65, the Declaratory Judgment Act, 28 U.S.C. §§ 2201–2202; the APA, 5 U.S.C. §§ 705–706; the All Writs Act, 28 U.S.C. § 1651; and the Court's inherent equitable powers.

14. Venue properly lies within the District of Rhode Island pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391(e)(1) because this is an action against officers or employees of the United States in their official capacity and agencies of the United States, and Plaintiffs Crossroads Rhode Island and Youth Pride, Inc. reside in this judicial district.

PARTIES

15. Plaintiff National Alliance to End Homelessness (Alliance) is a nonprofit, nonpartisan membership organization that works to end homelessness in the United States and prevent its continued growth. The Alliance seeks to ensure that no American is homeless by mobilizing all sectors of American society in an alliance to end homelessness. The Alliance is located in Washington, D.C. and has members in all 50 states. The Alliance brings this lawsuit on behalf of its members, a robust coalition that works to end homelessness through collaborative action and proven solutions. Alliance members include more than 10,000 nonprofit organizations, service providers, practitioners, local researchers, local and state government entities, and people with the lived experience of homelessness. Many Alliance members receive grants from HUD's CoC program and intend to reapply for these grants.

16. Plaintiff National Low Income Housing Coalition (NLIHC) is a nonprofit organization headquartered in Washington, D.C. It is dedicated to achieving racially and socially equitable public policy that ensures people with the lowest incomes have quality homes that are accessible and affordable in communities of their choice. NLIHC's over 1,000 dues-paying members include state and local housing coalitions, residents of public and assisted housing and other impacted people, nonprofit housing providers, homeless service providers, fair housing organizations, public housing agencies, private developers and property owners, local and state government agencies, faith-based organizations, researchers, and concerned citizens. NLIHC's members include dozens of entities across the United States who receive CoC funding or are CoC-funded housing providers. NLIHC supports its members with research, policy counseling, advocacy tools, and information sharing to deliver benefits for extremely low-income people who receive or need federal housing assistance, including people experiencing and at risk of homelessness.

17. Plaintiff Crossroads Rhode Island (Crossroads) is a nonprofit organization that has grown and evolved since 1894 to become the largest provider of homeless services in the state of Rhode Island. With headquarters in Providence, Rhode Island, Crossroads provides services statewide with a mission to help those experiencing homelessness secure stable homes. Crossroads offers a range of services to people experiencing homelessness, including housing, basic needs, emergency shelter, case management, referrals, and education and employment services. Crossroads has received competitive grants from the CoC program since approximately 2012 and, prior to that, grants from the Supportive Housing Program since the early 1990s. It is entitled to receive renewal awards for FY 2025 and intends to apply for FY 2026 CoC funding. Crossroads is a member of the Alliance.

18. Plaintiff Youth Pride, Inc. (YPI or Youth Pride) is a nonprofit organization headquartered in Providence, Rhode Island. Youth Pride's mission is to meet the unique, ongoing needs of LGBTQ+ youth and young adults in Rhode Island through direct services, support, advocacy, and education. Youth Pride has received and is currently receiving federal funding through HUD's Youth Homelessness Demonstration Program to provide housing assistance for LGBTQ+ youth, and any other youth, ages 18-24, who come to YPI and are experiencing housing instability. YPI has a direct CoC grant for FY 2024 for $183,260, which it uses to assist youth and young adults who are housing insecure, unstably housed, homeless, or in danger of losing housing, and which must be renewed for FY 2025. YPI intends to apply for FY 2026 CoC funding.

19. Plaintiff City of Boston (Boston) is a municipal corporation organized under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Boston was awarded FY 2024 CoC funding, which has been or must be renewed in FY 2025, and it and relies on nearly $48 million annually in CoC grant funds to house and stabilize residents exiting homelessness. Approximately 90% of that funding supports permanent housing for over 1,600 households which include people with disabilities, children, and veterans. Boston intends to apply for FY 2026 CoC funding.

20. Plaintiff City of Cambridge (Cambridge) is a municipal corporation organized under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. The Cambridge Continuum of Care was awarded more than $6.3 million in FY 2024, and those awards have been or must be renewed in FY 2025. The Cambridge Continuum of Care relies on these funds to provide housing and case management services to over 200 people with disabling conditions and provide rapid rehousing for survivors of domestic violence, among other services. Cambridge intends to apply for FY 2026 CoC funding.

21. Plaintiff Martin Luther King, Jr. County (MLK County) is a home rule charter county organized and existing under and by virtue of the constitution and laws of the State of Washington. MLK County is part of the Seattle–King County Continuum of Care. The Seattle–King County Continuum was awarded $67 million for FY 2024, and MLK County was the direct recipient of $38.85 million of those funds. Those awards have been or must be renewed in FY 2025. MLK County relies on these funds to serve its homeless residents, who numbered almost 17,000 during a recent count. MLK County intends to apply for FY 2026 CoC funding.

22. Plaintiff Metropolitan Government of Nashville & Davidson County (Nashville) is a combined municipal corporation and county government organized and existing under the laws of the State of Tennessee. The Nashville–Davidson County Continuum of Care was awarded approximately $11.8 million in CoC FY 2024 funding, funding that has been or must be renewed for FY 2025. The Nashville-Davidson County Continuum of Care relies on that funding to address homelessness in the community, including housing for people with chronic disabling conditions. Nashville intends to apply for FY 2026 CoC funding.

23. Plaintiff County of Santa Clara (Santa Clara County) is a charter county and political subdivision of the State of California. Santa Clara County serves as the lead agency and collaborative applicant for the Santa Clara County Continuum of Care. The Santa Clara County Continuum of Care was awarded approximately $48 million in CoC funding for FY 2024, of which $33 million went directly to Santa Clara County. That funding has been or must be renewed for FY 2025. Santa Clara County relies on CoC funding to provide—through subcontracts with community-based organizations—rental assistance, case management, and supportive services to help individuals and families exit homelessness and maintain stable housing. Santa Clara County intends to apply for FY 2026 CoC funding.

24. Plaintiff City of Tucson (Tucson) is a home rule charter city organized and existing under the constitution and laws of the State of Arizona. The Tucson/Pima County Continuum of Care was collectively awarded approximately $14.5 million in CoC FY 2024 funding, of which Tucson received approximately $6.1 million. That funding has been or must be renewed for FY 2025. Tucson relies on this funding to provide housing and outreach as part of its homelessness response. Tucson intends to apply for FY 2026 CoC funding.

25. Defendant United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is an executive department of the United States federal government headquartered in Washington, D.C. 42 U.S.C. § 3532(a). HUD is an “agency” within the meaning of the APA. 5 U.S.C. § 551(1).

26. Defendant Scott Turner is the Secretary of HUD, the highest-ranking official in HUD, and responsible for the decisions of HUD and for administering the CoC program. He is sued in his official capacity.

27. Defendant the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) is an administrative agency within the Office of the President of the United States. OMB is responsible for apportioning congressionally appropriated funding to HUD to be disbursed to grant recipients. See 31 U.S.C. § 1513(b); Notice; Delegation of Apportionment Authority, 90 Fed. Reg. 9737 (Feb. 18, 2025).

28. Defendant Russell Vought is the Director of OMB. He is sued in his official capacity.

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

I. The Continuum of Care Program Provides Critical Support for Individuals and Families Facing Homelessness

29. Congress enacted what became the McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act (the Homeless Assistance Act) in 1987 “to meet the critically urgent needs of the homeless of the Nation,” with “special emphasis on elderly persons, handicapped persons, families with children, Native Americans, and veterans.” 42 U.S.C. § 11301(b).

30. For 20 years following the passage of the Homeless Assistance Act, HUD administered three separate programs to address the needs of homeless individuals and families.

31. In 2009, Congress passed the Homeless Emergency Assistance and Rapid Transition to Housing (HEARTH) Act, which amended the Homeless Assistance Act to consolidate these three programs under the umbrella of the CoC program. Pub. L. No. 111-22, 123 Stat. 1632 (2009). In codifying the CoC program, Congress “establish[ed] a Federal goal of ensuring that individuals and families who become homeless return to permanent housing within 30 days.” Id. § 1002, 123 Stat. at 1664, codified at 42 U.S.C. § 11301 note. It also sought, among other things, to “promote community-wide commitment to the goal of ending homelessness,” to help rehouse people “while minimizing the trauma and dislocation” that homelessness causes, and “to optimize self-sufficiency among individuals and families experiencing homelessness.” 42 U.S.C. § 11381.

32. The CoC program awards funding that grant recipients use either directly or through subgrantees to provide critical support to homeless individuals and families in their communities. These grants fund a variety of programs, including programs to construct or otherwise create new permanent or transitional housing, rental assistance, rehousing support, and supportive services such as childcare, job training, healthcare, mental health services, trauma counseling, and life skills training. See 42 U.S.C. §§ 11360(29), 11383.

33. The statute sets forth a framework for the CoC program that prioritizes permanent housing, stability, and a strong role for local decisionmaking. And other statutory and regulatory provisions further govern the criteria and conditions that HUD can impose. Consistent with Congress’s goals of promoting stability and permanent housing, HUD has long embraced an evidence-based “Housing First” approach that prioritizes providing individuals experiencing homelessness with shelter before addressing other factors that may present challenges in their lives.

A. Congress prioritized permanent housing in the CoC program

34. Although Congress authorized CoC program funding to support a wide range of activities, it prioritized permanent housing.

35. Congress specifically identified only two “activities that have been proven to be effective at reducing homelessness”—and both are permanent housing strategies. 42 U.S.C. § 11386b(d)(2)(A). The first proven-effective strategy that Congress identified is “permanent supportive housing for chronically homeless individuals and families.” Id. And the second is “rapid rehousing services” for homeless families that involve other interventions like providing services to help improve incomes. Id. § 11386b(d)(2)(B). Rapid rehousing is a type of permanent housing. 24 C.F.R. § 578.3 (defining “permanent housing” to include rapid rehousing).

36. Congress directed HUD to support such strategies. In particular, the statute provides that HUD “shall provide bonuses or other incentives” for using funding on those strategies (permanent housing and rapid rehousing) that have proven effective. 42 U.S.C. § 11386b(d)(1). The statute also requires HUD, when awarding grants, to evaluate “the extent to which the recipient will . . . incorporate comprehensive strategies for reducing homelessness,” including the strategies “proven to be effective at reducing homelessness,” like “permanent supportive housing” and “rapid rehousing.” 42 U.S.C. §§ 11386a(b)(1)(B)(iv); 11386b(d)(2).

37. Notably, the HEARTH Act allows HUD to identify additional proven strategies “based on research and after notice and comment to the public.” Id. § 11386b(d)(2)(C). To date, HUD has not taken those steps to identify any such additional proven strategies.

38. The HEARTH Act also sets bare minimum amounts that HUD must allocate to permanent housing for certain communities. First, so long as enough funding would remain for renewals, it requires HUD to allocate at least 30 percent of appropriated funds to permanent supportive housing for “homeless individuals with disabilities” or certain families that include such an individual. 42 U.S.C. § 11386b(a)(1). And it also requires that at least 10 percent of funds appropriated for the program in any given year be “used to provide or secure permanent housing for homeless families with children.” Id. § 11386b(b).

B. Congress aimed to ensure stability in the CoC program

39. Congress also took care to provide for stability in the CoC program.

40. For one, Congress prioritized renewals of permanent housing projects. In particular, the HEARTH Act states that appropriated funds “shall be available for the renewal of contracts” for “rental assistance and housing operation costs associated with permanent housing projects funded under this part.” 42 U.S.C. § 11386c(b). In Section 11386c(b), the statute identifies two—and only two—factors that HUD must consider when determining whether to renew a permanent housing award: (1) whether “there is a demonstrated need for the project” and (2) whether it “complies with program requirements and appropriate standards of housing quality and habitability, as determined by [HUD].” Id. The applicant for the geographic area submits a “certification” that these factors are met, and HUD then makes a renewal determination “on the basis of” that certification. Id. Congress also made clear that this provision governing HUD’s consideration of renewals is not meant to be a limitation on when projects can be renewed: The statute specifies that nothing in § 11386c(b) “shall be construed as prohibiting the Secretary from renewing contracts under this part in accordance with criteria set forth” elsewhere in the statute. Id. § 11386c(c).

41. Congress also took steps to ensure that, to the extent sufficient funding was appropriated, it would be available to fund renewal projects. The statute requires HUD to consider “the need within the geographic area for homeless services” in making awards. Id. § 11386a(b)(2). That need amount is determined by a regulatory formula that looks to factors related to population size and poverty. Id.; see also 24 C.F.R. § 578.17(a)(3). But the statute also requires HUD to “increase the estimated need amount” for a particular geographic area as “necessary to provide 1 year of renewal funding for all expiring [CoC grant] contracts” for that area. 42 U.S.C. § 11386a(b)(2); see also 42 U.S.C. § 11386a(c) (authorizing HUD to adjust the geographic need formula “as necessary[] to ensure that each [CoC] has sufficient funding to renew all qualified projects for at least one year” and also “to ensure that collaborative applicants are not discouraged from replacing renewal projects with new projects that the [CoC] determines will better be able to meet the purposes of this chapter.”).

42. Congress has also taken steps to ensure that renewal projects could provide the same level of service despite rising costs. The statute requires HUD, “[w]hen providing renewal funding for leasing, operating costs, or rental assistance for permanent housing,” to “make adjustments proportional to increases in the fair market rents in the geographic area.” Id.

§ 11382(f). In addition, in recent appropriations bills, Congress separately specifically authorized HUD to “make reasonable adjustments to renewal amounts to enable renewal projects to operate at substantially the same levels.” Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2026, Pub. L. 119-75, div. D, tit. II, 140 Stat. 173, 399 (2026); Full-Year Continuing Appropriations and Extensions Act, 2025, Pub. L. No. 119-4, § 1101(12); § 1105, 139 Stat 9, 12 (2025); Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2024, Pub. L. No. 118-42, div. F, tit. II, 138 Stat 25, 363 (2024).

C. Congress protected the central role of local communities in addressing homelessness

43. Congress designed the CoC program to support local communities in responding to homelessness at the local level. 42 U.S.C. §§ 11381-11389; see also 42 U.S.C. § 11301 note (recognizing that the local “continuum of care program process” was an “integral local function” that is “necessary to generate the local strategies for ending homelessness”). The HEARTH Act does this by recognizing local or regional “Continuums of Care” (also known as Continuums or CoCs), bodies responsible for coordinating funding from the CoC program and other available resources to address homelessness within a geographic area. Continuums are composed of a wide variety of representatives, including, among others, nonprofit homeless providers, governments, businesses, law enforcement, hospitals, and school districts, as well as homeless and formerly homeless persons. 24 C.F.R. § 578.3.

44. The primary goal of a Continuum is to end homelessness in a specific geographic area through a comprehensive plan.

45. Under the statute, a local Continuum established at the community level coordinates the process of applying for CoC program funds for that community. 42 U.S.C. § 11360a(a). Each local CoC designates a “collaborative applicant” (which can be the Continuum itself or another organization eligible for CoC funds) that is responsible for applying for funding on behalf of entities within the CoC’s geographic area. 42 U.S.C. § 11360a(a). Each CoC must run a local competition to determine what projects and service providers will be part of its federal application, and how it will rank them. 42 U.S.C. § 11382; 24 C.F.R. § 578.9. It then submits an application on behalf of the CoC and all project applicants in that area. 42 U.S.C. § 11360a; 24 C.F.R. § 578.15. These CoC-designated collaborative applicants play a central role in determining the projects for which it should seek funding—and the statute permits an individual entity to apply on its own only if it “attempted to participate in the continuum of care process but was not permitted to participate in a reasonable manner.” 42 U.S.C. § 11382(i).

46. In evaluating applications and making selections, HUD looks not only at the characteristics of individual projects but also at the “methodology” the CoC “used to determine the priority for funding local projects.” Id. § 11386a(b)(1)(C). HUD must also consider “the need within the geographic area for homeless services” in making awards. Id. § 11386a(b)(2).

D. Statutory provisions govern grant criteria and conditions

47. The Homeless Assistance Act also sets forth comprehensive criteria to govern HUD’s selection of awardees. Id. § 11386a. Those statutory criteria include the “previous performance of the recipient regarding homelessness” (as measured by criteria that HUD announces and that must include certain statutorily defined metrics); the recipient's plan to serve homeless individuals and families; the recipient's methodology for prioritizing CoC funds for local projects; and the recipient's ability to coordinate and supplement CoC funds with other federal, state, and local resources and entities. Id. § 11386a(b). The statute vests the Secretary with authority to define additional criteria, but only as "appropriate to carry out" the program "in an effective and efficient manner." Id. § 11386a(b)(1)(G).

48. The Homeless Assistance Act also specifies the "[r]equired agreements" that grant recipients must make to receive funds under the program. Id. § 11386(b). For instance, recipients must agree to operate funded projects in accordance with statutory requirements, to involve individuals experiencing homelessness in project operations where practicable, and to certify that children in family programs are enrolled in school and connected to services such as Head Start and Individuals with Disabilities Education Act programs. Id. HUD may also establish "other terms and conditions," but only "to carry out this part in an effective and efficient manner." Id. § 11386(b)(8).

E. Binding regulations also govern CoC grants

49. A regulation in effect since 2012 governs the CoC program and generally tracks the statute. See 24 C.F.R. pt. 578.

50. Other agency-wide regulations also apply to the CoC program.

51. A HUD regulation requires the agency to proceed by notice-and-comment rulemaking for "matters that relate to . . . grants," "even though such matters would not otherwise be subject to rulemaking by law or Executive policy." 24 C.F.R. § 10.1, see also id. §§ 10.2, 10.7-10.10.

52. Another regulation imposes nondiscrimination requirements that recipients of CoC funds must follow. In particular, HUD's Equal Access Rule applies to CoC-funded programs and protects transgender individuals from discrimination. That rule requires, among other things, that grantees provide individuals equal access to programs, shelters, benefits, services, and accommodations “in accordance with the individual’s gender identity”; “place[], serve[], and accommodate[]” individuals “in accordance with the[ir] gender identity”; “not subject[]” individuals “to intrusive questioning” or ask them to provide evidence of their gender identity; and place individuals in “facilities with shared sleeping quarters or [] bathing facilities” according to their gender identity. 24 C.F.R. § 5.106(b). HUD has proposed to amend that rule to remove these protections, 91 Fed. Reg. 22779, but it has not issued a final rule making changes.

53. HUD regulations also prohibit discrimination on the basis of disability. One regulation provides that “no otherwise eligible individuals with disabilities . . . may be excluded on the grounds that they do not have a particular disability.” 24 C.F.R. § 578.93(b)(7). Other regulations similarly provide that “[n]o qualified individual with handicaps shall, solely on the basis of handicap, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or otherwise be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity that receives Federal financial assistance from the Department.” 24 C.F.R. § 8.4(a); accord id. § 9.130(b)(1)(ii). The “individuals with handicaps” protected by this regulation include those with both physical and mental impairments, including “drug addiction and alcoholism.” Id. § 8.3; id. § 9.103.

F. HUD has long advanced an evidence-based “Housing First” approach

54. Consistent with Congress’s goal of housing stability, HUD has for almost a decade called on applicants to adopt strategies consistent with a “Housing First” approach that the federal government has embraced ever since the George W. Bush administration. See, e.g., HUD, FY 2024 and FY 2025 Continuum of Care Competition and Renewal or Replacement of Youth Homeless Demonstration Program Grants at 17, <https://perma.cc/DQ4P-U6QH> (FY24-25 NOFO); HUD, Notice of Funding Availability (NOFA) for the Fiscal Year (FY) 2016 Continuum of Care Program Competition at 9, <https://perma.cc/NMS7-5NAG>; see also HUD, Housing First: A Review of the Evidence (2023), <https://perma.cc/AN54-NYET>. “Housing First” refers to policies that prioritize first providing housing to unhoused people while also offering, but not mandating, supportive services to address underlying issues such as drug use or mental health conditions.

55. As the United States Interagency Council on Homelessness has recognized, Housing First policy “is based on overwhelming evidence that people experiencing homelessness can achieve stability in permanent housing if provided with the appropriate level of services. Study after study has shown that Housing First yields higher housing retention rates, drives significant reductions in the use of costly crisis services and institutions, and helps people achieve better health and social outcomes.” United States Interagency Council on Homelessness, Housing First Checklist: Assessing Projects and Systems for a Housing First Orientation at 1 (2016), <https://perma.cc/RM7N-B9HW>.

56. This emphasis on offering, but not mandating, services is consistent with other federal laws. Under the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) and Family Violence Prevention and Service Act (FVPSA)—two laws that, among other things, fund housing support for survivors of domestic violence and sexual assault who cannot safely remain at home—it is illegal for a provider to require participants to take part in supportive services as a condition of receiving housing assistance; those services must be voluntary. 34 U.S.C. § 12351(b)(3) (VAWA grants for transitional housing assistance); 42 U.S.C. § 10408(d)(2) (FVPSA grants for emergency shelter).

II. Congress Appropriates Funding for FY 2026 Continuum of Care Grants

57. For FY 2026, Congress appropriated over $4 billion for the CoC program. Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2026, Pub. L. No. 119-75, div. D, tit. II, 140 Stat. 173, 399 (2026 Appropriations Act).

58. The 2026 Appropriations Act directs HUD to issue a notice of funding opportunity (NOFO) for those funds by June 1, 2026 and to make awards by December 1, 2026. Id. at 400.

59. The 2026 Appropriations Act establishes some new requirements for CoC awards.

60. For instance, it requires HUD to make a significant portion of FY 2026 awards based on the projects that the local Continuums of Care selected in their local competitions, without those projects needing to compete against projects in other geographic areas. In particular, HUD must “select projects totaling not less than 60 percent of the annual renewal demand for each collaborative applicant”—that is, at least 60 percent the amount needed to provide one-year renewals of each CoC’s expiring grants—“based on rankings determined by the local continuum of care and consistent with 42 U.S.C. 11381 et seq.” Id. at 399.

61. The 2026 Appropriations Act also authorizes funding recipients, when implementing the program, to “establish preferences for elderly individuals or families” (as long as it is not a program provided to serve homeless youth) and for “disabled individuals or families as defined by [42 U.S.C. § 11360(10)]”—a definition that covers people with a wide range of disabilities, including physical, mental, emotional, and developmental impairments, impairments arising from substance use, and HIV/AIDS. Id. at 401; see also 42 U.S.C. § 11360(10). Neither the 2026 Appropriations Act nor any other statute authorizes HUD or funding recipients to establish priorities for people with physical or developmental disabilities over people with mental health, substance use, and other disabilities.

III. The Administration Leverages Federal Funding to Advance an Ideological Agenda

A. President Trump issues executive orders to leverage federal funding to advance ideological goals

62. Since first taking office, President Trump has issued a host of executive orders that aim to leverage federal funding to advance the Administration's own ideological and policy agenda, without Congress's involvement.

63. For example, multiple executive orders broadly seek to eradicate all diversity, equity, and inclusion activities. See, e.g., Ending Illegal Discrimination and Restoring Merit-Based Opportunity, Executive Order 14173, 90 Fed. Reg. 8633 (Jan. 31, 2025); Ending Radical and Wasteful Government DEI Programs and Preferencing, Exec. Order 14151, 90 Fed. Reg. 8339 (Jan. 29, 2025); Improving Oversight of Federal Grantmaking, Exec. Order No. 14332, 90 Fed. Reg. 38929 (Aug. 7, 2025).

64. Other executive orders have aimed to shun transgender and gender-nonconforming people and to force the public to adopt the view that sex is binary and immutable and that people's gender identities should not be recognized. Defending Women from Gender Ideology Extremism and Restoring Biological Truth to the Federal Government, Exec. Order No. 14168, 90 Fed. Reg. 8615 (Jan. 30, 2025) ("Gender Ideology" Executive Order); Improving Oversight of Federal Grantmaking, Exec. Order No. 14332, 90 Fed. Reg. 38929 (Aug. 7, 2025).

65. With another executive order, President Trump has sought to bar grantees from using funds to promote elective abortion, even in instances where Congress has imposed no abortion-related restrictions on the funds. Enforcing the Hyde Amendment, Executive Order 14182, 90 Fed. Reg. 8751 (Jan. 31, 2025).

66. Another executive order purports to mandate that grantees verify immigration status and seeks to ensure "that Federal payments to States and localities do not, by design or effect, facilitate the subsidization or promotion of illegal immigration, or abet so-called ‘sanctuary’ policies that seek to shield illegal aliens from deportation.” Ending Taxpayer Subsidization of Open Borders, Executive Order 14218, 90 Fed. Reg. 10581 (Feb. 25, 2025).

67. And another executive order directs the end of “support for ‘housing first’ policies” and urged policies criminalizing homelessness. Ending Crime and Disorder on America’s Streets, Executive Order 14321, 90 Fed. Reg. 35817 (Jul. 24, 2025) (Homelessness Executive Order).

B. OMB restricts HUD’s ability to award funds as Congress intended

68. OMB has taken action to further advance some of these executive orders’ directives.

69. By law, OMB must apportion appropriated funds before the agency can obligate them. See 31 U.S.C. §§ 1512, 1513(b), 1517(a); Notice; Delegation of Apportionment Authority, 90 Fed. Reg. 9737 (Feb. 18, 2025) (noting that the President has delegated responsibility for apportioning funds to the Director of OMB). Apportionment is an administrative process meant to ensure that agencies do not spend funds in excess of what Congress appropriated. See 31 U.S.C. § 1512(a).

70. OMB cannot thwart Congress’s will by withholding funds and must make an apportionment within 30 days after an appropriation is enacted (or earlier in some circumstances). Id. § 1513(b)(2).

71. Yet the Director of OMB has taken the position that OMB can and should be “aggressive in wielding” apportionments “on behalf of the President’s agenda.” Russ Vought, Executive Office of the President of the United States, in Mandate for Leadership: The Conservative Promise at 45 (2023) (Project 2025), <https://perma.cc/7GM8-AGXE>.

72. OMB has done just that with its apportionment of FY 2026 funds for the CoC program.

73. On May 22, 2026, just before HUD’s deadline to issue the FY 2026 CoC NOFO, OMB apportioned approximately $4 billion that Congress appropriated for the CoC program in FY 2026. OMB’s apportionment, however, contains two footnotes (Apportionment Footnotes) that restrict HUD from obligating the funds unless HUD complies with certain conditions. Homeless Assistance Grants, OpenOMB, <https://perma.cc/JWZ6-WBGN> (last accessed June 17, 2026).

74. OMB designated these footnotes as legally binding, meaning that HUD would violate the Antideficiency Act—and the relevant officials could be subject to administrative and criminal penalties—if they do not follow the footnotes. See id.; OMB Circular No. A-11 § 120.34 (2026), <https://perma.cc/897F-UUQK>; 31 U.S.C. §§ 1517–1519.

75. The first footnote (Grantmaking E.O. Footnote) provides that, “[a]s permissible by law, amounts apportioned for competitive grants only shall be obligated with award agreements that include terms and conditions consistent with the directives provided in: Executive Order 14332, ‘Improving Oversight of Federal Grantmaking.’”

76. The Grantmaking E.O. broadly aims to use federal grantmaking to advance political goals not approved by Congress. Improving Oversight of Federal Grantmaking, Exec. Order No. 14332, 90 Fed. Reg. 38929 (Aug. 7, 2025). That executive order requires agencies across the federal government to revamp their grantmaking processes to ensure increased involvement by political appointees. See id. §§ 2(h), 3–4, 90 Fed. Reg. at 38930–32.

77. The Grantmaking E.O. directs responsible appointees to ensure that competitive awards do not “promote, encourage, subsidize, or facilitate” disfavored activities. Id. § 4(b)(ii), 90 Fed. Reg. at 38931. For instance, the E.O. states that funds should not promote “denial by the grant recipient of the sex binary in humans or the notion that sex is a chosen or mutable characteristic.” Id. § 4(b)(ii)(B), 90 Fed. Reg. at 38931. It also states that funds should not promote “racial discrimination by the grant recipient”—which the Administration has interpreted to include all manner of diversity, equity, and inclusion activities that have long been considered lawful. Id. § 4(b)(ii)(A), 90 Fed. Reg. at 38931 The Order also states that funds should not promote “illegal immigration,” which the Administration has signaled means funds should not be used to provide assistance to undocumented individuals at all. Id. § 4(b)(ii)(C), 90 Fed. Reg. at 38931.

78. The second footnote (Homelessness E.O. Footnote) provides that, “[a]s permissible by law, amounts apportioned, but not yet obligated as of the date of this apportionment, shall be obligated consistent with the directives provided in: Executive Order 14321, ‘Ending Crime and Disorder on America’s Streets.’”

79. The Homelessness E.O. calls for HUD (1) to “end[] support for ‘housing first’ policies” and to require grantees to “increase requirements” for participants to “use substance abuse treatment or mental health services as a condition of participation”; (2) to freeze funding for organizations that operate safe drug use sites; (3) to prioritize funding for grantees in states and municipalities that enforce laws criminalizing homelessness (including prohibitions on “urban camping and loitering,” “urban squatting,” and “open illicit drug use”), that have maximalist involuntary commitment standards, and that substantially implement the Sex Offender Registry and Notification Act. Ending Crime and Disorder on America’s Streets, Exec. Order No. 14321 §§ 3, 5(a)–(c), 90 Fed. Reg. 35817, 35817–19 (Jul. 24, 2025).

80. No statute grants OMB authority to impose these restrictions in apportioning funds to HUD for the CoC program.

IV. HUD Issues a FY 2026 NOFO with a Host of Unlawful Provisions

81. On June 1, 2026, HUD issued the NOFO for FY 2026 CoC funding. FY 2026 Continuum of Care Competition and Youth Homelessness Demonstration Program Grants NOFO, CPD-2600-DC-0025 (HUD June 1, 2026), <https://perma.cc/RUD8-XHJB> (FY 2026 NOFO).

82. HUD did not concurrently inform each CoC of its “pro rata estimated grant amount” as required by 42 U.S.C. § 11386a(b)(2)(A). This information governs each CoC’s maximum award amount and therefore the total amount of funding for which they can apply. CoCs thus need this information to be able to complete their applications. To date, HUD still has not provided this statutorily mandated information.

83. Further complicating matters for CoCs and project applicants, HUD also has still not HUD posted the actual application with the questions that grantees must address. It is extremely challenging for CoCs to make selections, or to prepare their applications, when the application forms are not available and CoCs do not know precisely what HUD will require.

84. Through a complex web of unlawful and unreasoned provisions (Challenged Provisions), the NOFO again seeks to radically remake the CoC program by withdrawing funding from permanent housing and proven approaches and channeling it to projects that fit the Administration’s own ideological vision. The NOFO’s changes are unsupported by the evidence or any reasoned decisionmaking, inconsistent with Congress’s commands, or both.

A. Overview of the NOFO’s selection process

85. CoCs exist to provide a coordinated, community-wide response to homelessness. Consistent with the CoC’s community-wide approach to addressing homelessness, by statute, CoCs submit a centralized application for funding on behalf of the CoC's entire geographic area. See 42 U.S.C. § 11386a(a). Individual projects apply to the CoC for inclusion in the CoC's application to HUD.

86. The NOFO sets out HUD's selection process, which includes several components. Those components evaluate both the individual projects included in each CoC's application and the CoC's application overall.

87. First, HUD conducts a "threshold review" to determine if each individual project is eligible for funding on a pass/fail basis. If a project fails to meet any threshold requirement, it is disqualified from eligibility and any further consideration for funding. FY 2026 NOFO at 58.

88. Second, HUD conducts a "merit review." FY 2026 NOFO at 69. This step evaluates the CoC overall, not individual projects—but the score each CoC receives then factors into a separate score that HUD assigns to individual projects. At this step, HUD scores each CoC by assigning points for various "merit criteria" that generally look to the CoC's approach to homelessness and the overall composition of the projects within its application. As a result, projects on a CoC's application are interdependent, and if a CoC includes disfavored projects on its application, that can drag down the entire CoC's score and thus reduce the entire community's chances of receiving funding.

89. Third, HUD conducts a "risk review." At this step, HUD looks at criteria that purportedly bear on each project "applicant's likelihood of successfully carrying out the project"—but that, as explained further below, in reality attempt to leave HUD with free reign to reject projects on virtually any grounds. See NOFO at 86. Under the NOFO, HUD purports to retain discretion to reject awards that do not pass "risk review."

90. Finally, the NOFO states that—after all the other steps—HUD may also consider additional factors like “the overall projected impact on the ... priorities in this NOFO.” Id. at 87. The NOFO states that, “[t]o the extent allowed by law, HUD may exercise its discretion” to make or reject awards based on these additional factors.

91. The NOFO establishes a two-tier system for project applications. Under that system, each CoC’s application provides a priority listing of projects, which are grouped in a “Tier 1” and “Tier 2,” with Tier 1 being the higher priority.

92. Tier 1 projects are not subject to “merit review.” Rather, projects in Tier 1 will be funded so long as they pass threshold review, and so long as HUD does not disqualify them based on the risk review or the other additional factors. In the 2026 Appropriations Act, Congress required that, for FY 2026 funding, Tier 1 be at least 60 percent of each CoC’s annual renewal demand, i.e., at least 60 percent of the amount needed to renew for one year all expiring grants. See Pub. L. No. 119-75, div. D, tit. II, 140 Stat. 173, 399; 42 U.S.C. § 11386a(b)(2)(B); 24 C.F.R. § 578.17(b)(2). The NOFO sets the Tier 1 amount at this bare minimum. FY 2026 NOFO at 90.

93. Tier 2 projects are subject to “merit review” in addition to the other review steps. Tier 2 projects receive individual project scores that take into account three factors: the score the CoC received at the “merit review” stage (worth 50 percent of the project’s score), how highly the project was ranked in the CoC’s application (worth 40 percent of the project’s score), and whether the project mandates participation in supportive services (worth 10 percent of the project’s score). Id. at 90. That score then factors into which projects receive funding.

94. More specifically, the NOFO establishes a waterfall that designates which types of projects will be funded first. Scores do not factor into the first two levels of the waterfall, which cover certain grants for CoC administration and all Tier 1 projects. But at the following levels of the waterfall, projects are generally selected in order of score, unless they are disqualified based on HUD's review of "risk" or "additional factors." See id. at 89.

95. At every step of this selection process, HUD has rigged the system to categorically cut off renewal funding for a significant number of projects and to defund proven strategies.

B. A massive set-aside for new transitional housing and supportive-services-only projects would destabilize the program and defund proven strategies

96. The FY 2026 NOFO sets aside $1.3 billion—nearly a third of the available funding—for new projects only, with a priority for transitional housing and supportive-services-only projects (Set-Aside). FY 2026 NOFO at 35–36. This threatens to destabilize communities' homelessness response and defund proven strategies.

97. By setting aside these funds for new projects only, the NOFO categorically makes existing projects ineligible for that funding. Given the size of the Set-Aside, the inevitable result is that many effective existing projects will not be renewed, forcing tens of thousands of people back into homelessness.

98. Moreover, the $1.3 billion set-aside will likely go only to new transitional housing and supportive-services-only projects—at the expense of permanent housing projects. Under the selection process that the NOFO establishes, HUD will award amounts from the $1.3 billion set-aside to another type of project (such as permanent housing) if and only if all transitional housing and supportive-services-only project applications have already been selected for funding. FY 2026 NOFO at 89. In other words, transitional housing and supportive-services-only projects receive funding first, even if permanent housing or other projects score higher on merit-based criteria.

99. This Set-Aside creates a significant incentive for CoCs to apply for transitional housing and supportive-services-only projects, as CoCs are otherwise unlikely to receive any portion of the $1.3 billion set-aside. Congress, however, has only authorized HUD to provide incentives for activities that have proven effective at addressing homelessness. 42 U.S.C. § 11386b(d)(1). In the statute, Congress identified only two activities that have proven effective—two types of permanent housing strategies. Id. § 11386b(d)(2). Congress also authorized HUD to identify additional activities that have proven effective, but only if it does so “based on research and after notice and comment to the public.” Id. HUD has not done so for transitional housing or supportive-services-only approaches, and HUD therefore cannot properly provide incentives for these types of projects, as the Set-Aside does.

100. In addition to ignoring statutory requirements, HUD failed to offer a rational explanation for this Set-Aside. It claimed that the Set-Aside would “restore balance” to the CoC program, “increase competition,” and “broaden the applicant pool.” FY 2026 NOFO at 35. But it did not consider or explain how replacing proven strategies with unproven ones, or favoring lower scoring projects in the competition, were desirable or permissible goals. Nor did it consider how this would override local decisionmaking and effectively force communities to seek funding for these types of projects, even though that might not fit their local needs. It likewise did not consider that it actually decreases competition to provide that all new transitional housing and supportive-services-only projects will necessarily win out over any new permanent housing project, or that it could broaden the applicant pool by making projects equally eligible for funding. While there is a place for temporary housing interventions like transitional housing, and while supportive-services-only grants are critical to the well-being of people recovering from homelessness, HUD did not reasonably explain its decision to advantage those approaches to the detriment of others—particularly given the McKinney-Vento Act’s stated purpose of “ensuring that individuals and families who become homeless return to permanent housing within 30 days.” 42 U.S.C. § 11301 Note.

C. Selection criteria effectively force communities to abandon proven strategies in favor of unproven or harmful approaches

101. The NOFO establishes criteria that will factor into how projects are selected for funding. Many of those criteria, individually and in combination, will effectively force communities to de-fund proven strategies in favor of unproven and harmful ones.

102. In addition to specific threshold and merit scoring criteria, the NOFO provides the overall instruction that applications “must support the goals of this NOFO.” Id. at 11. Given that instruction, as well as the additional factors looking to HUD’s assessment of the project’s “projected impact” and “[l]ikelihood” of “result[ing] in the benefits expected,” id. at 11, 87, CoCs as a practical matter must put forth projects adopting the ineffective strategies that the NOFO favors to have any chance of receiving awards.

1. Criteria mandating service requirements

103. Various NOFO criteria (Service Requirements Criteria) pressure CoCs to abandon “Housing First”—the approach that prioritizes providing housing to people without any preconditions like sobriety, employment, or participating in treatment or other services.

104. The NOFO proclaims (incorrectly) that “‘Housing First’ has been a profound failure.” FY 2026 NOFO at 28. The NOFO reasons that because certain homelessness metrics have increased while the CoC program has adopted a Housing First approach, that approach has been unsuccessful. See id. HUD fails to acknowledge that, as HUD quietly reported just weeks ago, homelessness has more recently gone down. The NOFO, moreover, makes no effort to explain how the prior increases in the metrics HUD points to are attributable to Housing First strategies as opposed to rising housing costs, a decrease in available affordable housing, lasting impacts from the COVID-19 pandemic, and other factors. Nor does the NOFO provide any evidence that mandatory services will lead to better outcomes with respect to drug use, mental health treatment, or housing. And the NOFO fails to grapple with the evidence, including reports produced by HUD itself, that Housing First models are effective.

105. Based on unsupported conclusions, the NOFO abandons proven strategies and instead directs CoCs to “prioritize projects” that impose requirements to participate in treatment and services. FY 2026 NOFO at 31; see also id. at 32.

106. The NOFO includes a host of criteria that pressure CoCs to put forth applications for projects that mandate services.

107. For projects subject to merit review, the NOFO makes mandating services the single largest individual scoring factor affecting projects’ likelihood of selection within each level of the waterfall. In particular, out of the 100 possible points available to a project, projects will receive up to 10 points if “they have or will incorporate supportive service participation requirements.” FY 2026 NOFO at 90. By comparison, projects can receive a total of 50 points for their CoC’s score on the dozens of other merit criteria combined. See id.

108. In addition, multiple merit criteria that govern the CoC’s score will pressure CoCs to favor projects that eschew evidence-based approaches. For instance, the NOFO assigns points for demonstrating that certain percentages of housing projects within the CoC mandate participation in supportive services, id. at 79; demonstrating certain numbers of CoC-funded units mandating substance abuse treatment as a condition of participation in the program, id. at 78; and for not restricting CoC-funded housing projects from requiring treatment or sobriety as a condition of assistance, id. at 85.

109. Various factors at the threshold review stage also pressure CoCs to put forth projects that mandate services, to reduce the risk that projects will be disqualified at the outset. In particular, the NOFO includes threshold criteria that look to the results that the project will achieve—criteria that necessarily involve subjective assessments and that HUD will evaluate through its pro-service-mandates lens. For example, to get 2 of the 6 required points to pass the threshold review applicable to new transitional housing projects, the applicant must explain how the project “will result in at least 20 hours per week of engagement in services, activities or employment for all participants.” FY 2026 NOFO at 63–64. Threshold scoring for permanent housing projects similarly looks to whether the type of supportive services offered “will ensure” certain outcomes—like, for rapid rehousing, that the participant “is able to successfully obtain self-sufficiency and exit homelessness.” Id. at 67–68. Given the NOFO’s strong signals that HUD does not believe Housing First can achieve favorable outcomes, these criteria put pressure on CoCs to select projects that mandate services and that HUD will therefore consider to satisfy these threshold criteria.

110. In imposing these criteria that favor mandatory service requirements, HUD systematically disadvantages projects serving victims of sexual assault and domestic violence. Those providers will often also receive grants under the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) or the Family Violence Prevention Service Act (FVPSA), which prohibit providers from mandating services. 34 U.S.C. § 12351(b)(3) (VAWA); 42 U.S.C. § 10408(d)(2) (FVPSA). And yet, the NOFO’s scoring criteria reward the mandated service conditions prohibited by VAWA and FVPSA. Under the NOFO’s Service Requirements Criteria, providers that fund their programs from these multiple sources face a steep competitive disadvantage, as they cannot receive a significant number of points. HUD did not consider or address this impact in imposing the Service Requirements Criteria.

2. Criteria seeking to eliminate harm reduction approaches to drug use

111. The CoC threshold and scoring criteria also include several provisions (Anti-Harm Reduction Criteria) that seek to eliminate harm reduction programs generally, even independently funded ones.

112. Harm reduction is an approach to reducing the negative consequences associated with drug use through a variety of public health interventions, such as needle exchanges and methadone treatment. Harm reduction has been shown to reduce the risk of overdose and to improve housing stability and health outcomes, particularly when compared to abstinence-contingent services. Nonetheless, the NOFO pressures CoCs and applicants to end such programs, even if funded with non-federal money.

113. For example, to get 10 points on merit review, a CoC must “[p]rohibit CoC-funded housing projects from operating drug injection sites or ‘safe consumption sites,’ knowingly distributing drug paraphernalia on or off property under their control, knowingly permitting the use or distribution of illicit drugs on property under their control, or conducting any of these activities under the pretext of ‘harm reduction.’” FY 2026 NOFO at 85. In other words, to avoid losing out on 10 points, CoCs could not seek funding for any projects that operate harm reduction services, even with their own, non-CoC funding.

114. At the threshold review stage, the NOFO also disqualifies applicants that do not certify that they will not “operate[] illegal drug injection sites or ‘safe consumption sites’ in violation of 21 U.S.C. 856(a)(1), knowingly permit the use or distribution of illicit drugs on property under their control in violation of 21 U.S.C. 856(a)(2), or knowingly distribute drug paraphernalia in violation of 21 U.S.C. 863” (Safe Drug Use Certification). FY 2026 NOFO at 60; see also id. at 108. This requirement applies not just to the grantees' use of grant funds, but also to any activity the grantee engages in, even with non-federal funds. While the condition states only that grantees may not engage in activity that other laws already prohibit, Defendants have an expansive view of what those laws prohibit, and have included this condition to deter harm reduction activities.

115. This condition also effectively mandates punitive treatment of individuals struggling with addiction. The NOFO clarifies that this condition “is not a requirement that program participants ... be evicted or exited from assistance for a first-time violation of a drug-related program policy or lease requirement”—a clarification that strongly implies that HUD means to impose limitations on continuing to serve participants with more than one violation. It does not violate the law, however, to continue assisting a person even if they violate drug-related requirements more than once.

3. Criteria promoting unproductively punitive law enforcement responses to homelessness

116. Various NOFO criteria (Law Enforcement Criteria) pressure CoCs—and states and localities—to adopt and express support for unproductively punitive law enforcement responses, including criminalizing homelessness.

117. The NOFO imposes a host of threshold and merit criteria that pressure applicants to make unnecessarily aggressive law enforcement responses a central part of their approach, without regard to local conditions that might warrant a different approach.

118. For example, to get 1 of the 6 required points to pass threshold review, new supportive-services-only street outreach projects must show they have “a history of, or a plan for, partnering with first responders and law enforcement to engage” unhoused people in accessing certain types of assistance. Id. at 65. In addition, even though in some communities a law enforcement-based approach can erode trust and make providers less effective, to get this point, these projects must assist law enforcement to enforce local laws on public camping and public drug use rather than focus on providing services. Id.

119. At the merit review stage, street outreach projects also must cooperate with first responders and law enforcement to receive certain points. Id. at 80.

120. In addition, to receive 14 points, another criterion (Local Policies Criterion) requires CoCs to “provide evidence” that the CoC “cooperates with ... local efforts to advance” the following objectives: “[q]uickly clear[ing] tents and encampments,” “[d]ecreas[ing] the public use of illicit drugs,” pursuing “involuntary commitment,” and “shar[ing] information ... in accordance with the Sex Offender Registry and Notification Act (SORNA).” Id. at 80–81. Worse, to receive the points, CoCs also cannot take actions that (in HUD’s judgment) “interfere with” local efforts to advance those objectives—a restriction that unconstitutionally disadvantages CoCs that advocate against or otherwise express opposition to the policies that the NOFO favors. To receive these points, CoCs must also identify local laws and policies that advance or hinder those goals and explain how the CoC will either leverage or overcome those policies, again compelling CoCs to adopt federal preferences rather than applying the approaches specifically adopted to meet community needs. Id.

121. The NOFO concludes that “[u]nchecked public camping and public illicit drug use inhibit nonprofit providers and local government from effectively addressing homelessness,” without providing any support for the assertion. The NOFO offers no legitimate evidence that the federal government’s preferred punitive approaches are effective in reducing homelessness, does not address the impacts of exposing more people to the criminal legal system, and fails to take into account Congress’s efforts to develop constructive alternatives to criminalizing homelessness.

D. Other provisions disqualify or disadvantage applicants on improper grounds

122. The NOFO also includes other provisions that improperly disqualify applicants that Congress mandated be eligible for funding or that unfairly disadvantage applicants on unjustifiable grounds.

1. Criteria adopting a conception of “self-sufficiency” at odds with the statute

123. The NOFO also adopts multiple criteria (Self-Sufficiency Criteria) that threaten to disqualify applicants that do not, in HUD’s judgment, adequately promote “self-sufficiency”—which the NOFO (improperly) defines as “the ability to meet basic needs, including a place to live, without public or private assistance.” FY 2026 NOFO at 6 (emphasis added).

124. In particular, for renewal projects to pass threshold review, the NOFO states that HUD will assess the “applicant’s performance in assisting program participants to achieve and maintain self-sufficiency.” Id. at 61. Projects that fail HUD’s assessment will be disqualified from consideration. Similarly, at the “Risk Review” stage, HUD identifies a project’s “[a]bility to promote self-sufficiency and economic independence” as a “sufficient and independent basis” to reject an application. Id. at 87.

125. The NOFO’s conception of “self-sufficiency” has no grounding in the statute. Far from aiming to end homeless individuals’ reliance on any assistance, Congress specifically directed CoCs to promote access to, and use of, other mainstream programs that could assist those populations, such as Medicaid or the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program. See 42 U.S.C. §§ 11313(a)(7), 11381(3), 11386a(b)(1)(D), 11386b(d)(2)(B). And, consistent with the statute, HUD has long considered increasing participants' benefits-based income to be a sign of strong performance. See id. § 11386a(b)(1)(A)(v).

126. The NOFO's unsupported conception of "self-sufficiency," moreover, fails to account for the realities of serving certain communities. For example, many program participants have disabilities, trauma histories, or safety needs that require ongoing support and create barriers to achieving the type of "self-sufficiency" the NOFO envisions. HUD did not consider or explain how assessing projects based on this measure of "self-sufficiency" would undermine providers' ability to serve certain communities effectively.

2. Amorphous "risk review" criteria and additional factors

127. In the NOFO, HUD also purports to retain discretion to reject awards that do not satisfy amorphous and highly subjective criteria at the "risk review" and additional factor review stages.

128. The NOFO's "risk review" stage includes undefined criteria such as the applicant's "[a]bility to promote self-sufficiency and economic independence," as well as criteria that look to the applicant's "[h]istory of illegal discrimination" and "[h]istory of ... facilitating illicit drug use or other illicit activities that conflict with the purposes of this NOFO"—with HUD, not a court, apparently being the sole arbiter of what is "illegal" and with no explanation of what HUD deems "illegal." See id. at 87. The NOFO also states that HUD will rely on potentially unverified information, such as "news reports," to assess applicant's past performance. Id. The "risk review" in the NOFO gives HUD substantially more unfettered discretion than ever before to reject an application on these grounds alone.

129. The NOFO also reserves to HUD the option to consider—and reject projects based on—amorphous additional factors after completing all other review steps. FY 2026 NOFO at 87. These other factors include things like "the overall projected impact on the ... priorities in this NOFO,” the “[l]ikelihood that the proposed project will result in the benefits expected,” and a “[b]road range of recipients beyond recurrent recipients.” Id. Although the NOFO says that HUD will consider these additional factors “to the extent allowed by law,” it does not explain when HUD is allowed to consider these factors.

130. The unclear and undefined “risk review” criteria and additional factors are largely subjective and leave project applicants with two options—attempt to meet the amorphous criteria and otherwise conform to HUD’s wishes or risk having their application tossed out. These factors, moreover, improperly leave room for HUD to reject applicants based on political or ideological favoritism or other arbitrary reasons. These factors contribute to the coercion campaign that pressures CoCs into conforming to HUD’s wishes to increase their chances of surviving this step of the review.

3. Non-Statutory Threshold Criteria that improperly disqualify Tier 1 projects

131. The NOFO also includes policy-based threshold review criteria (Non-Statutory Threshold Criteria) that improperly disqualify Tier 1 projects that meet statutory and regulatory requirements.

132. In the 2026 Appropriations Act, Congress required that HUD award a certain amount of funding—for each CoC, 60 percent of the amount needed to renew all expiring projects—“based on rankings determined by the local continuum of care and consistent with 42 U.S.C. 11381 et seq.” Pub. L. No. 119-75, div. D, tit. II, 140 Stat. at 399. In other words, for this portion of funding, CoCs get to decide which projects receive awards, so long as they are “consistent with” statutory requirements. This corresponds to the projects that CoCs list on “Tier 1” of their applications.

133. Despite the 2026 Appropriations Act’s mandate, the NOFO requires all new projects, including those listed in Tier 1, to pass a threshold review that is not limited to requirements imposed by statute and regulation, but rather also includes multiple policy-based criteria imposed by the NOFO alone.

134. In particular, for each type of project (e.g., transitional housing, permanent supportive housing, etc.), the applicant must receive a certain number of points. For example, for a new transitional housing project to pass threshold review, it must receive 6 out of 8 available points. To obtain sufficient points, projects must meet criteria that are found nowhere in the statute or regulations. For example:

- a. Transitional housing projects must have a record of having at least 50 percent of participants exit with employment income within 24 months or have a plan to achieve that benchmark (1 point) and must provide services in a way “that will result in” all program participants participating in services at least 20 hours per week (2 points). FY 2026 NOFO at 63–64.
- a. Street outreach projects must “partner[] with first responders and law enforcement” and “cooperate ... with the enforcement” of public camping and public drug use laws (1 point). Id. at 65.
- b. Rapid rehousing projects must show that rental assistance will help participants achieve “self-sufficiency” (meaning no reliance on any public or private assistance, even from mainstream programs) within 24 months (1 point), that supportive services “will ensure that the participant is able to successfully obtain self-sufficiency” so defined (2 points), and that the applicant has a record of having at least 50 percent of participants exit with employment income within 24 months or have a plan to achieve that benchmark (1 point). Id. at 6, 67–68.

135. These criteria threaten to disqualify projects that are eligible under the statute and regulations and that Congress mandated that HUD fund if CoCs included them in their Tier 1.

4. Preference for people with certain disabilities, but not other disabilities

136. The NOFO also announces a preference for people with certain disabilities, to the exclusion of people with other types of disabilities (Discriminatory Disability Priority).

137. In particular, the NOFO proclaims that “able-bodied people” should “move to self-sufficiency” while individuals “over 62 years old, physically disabled, [or] developmentally disabled” are “likely to never be able to return to the workforce.” FY 2026 NOFO at 30. Based on that discriminatory premise, the NOFO further announces that the latter populations “should be prioritized for Permanent Supportive Housing.” Id. Contrary to federal disability law, this provision impermissibly relies on stereotypes about disabilities and creates a second-class tier of disabilities that excludes and harms individuals with mental health disabilities and substance use disorders.

138. Although the NOFO does not award points based on this priority, the statement that this population “should be prioritized” pressures applicants to do just that given that HUD requires applications to “support the goals of this NOFO” and retains discretion to reject or select projects based on their “projected impact” and “[l]ikelihood” of “result[ing] in the benefits expected.” Id. at 11, 87.

5. Inequitable eligibility for CoC Bonus funding

139. The NOFO also establishes arbitrary limits on CoCs' eligibility for bonus funding (Bonus Limits), and those limits systematically disadvantage communities with higher relative need in favor of communities with lower relative need.

140. Bonus funding is an amount that CoCs can apply for on top of their statutorily defined need. In particular, the statute requires HUD to take account of the "need within the geographic area for homeless services" when making awards and provides that this need amount is either an amount determined by a regulatory formula that looks to factors related to population size and poverty or the amount "necessary to provide 1 year of renewal funding for all expiring" CoC grants, whichever is higher. 42 U.S.C. §§ 11386a(b)(2)(B), (c)(1); see also 24 C.F.R. § 578.17(a)(3). Binding regulations provide that a CoC's maximum award amount (and the maximum amount for which they can apply) is this need amount, plus amounts for a few other items, including "available bonuses." 24 C.F.R. § 578.17(b)(4).

141. The FY 2026 NOFO provides for a "CoC Bonus," which is an additional amount that CoCs can apply for, for "new project[s]," beyond their statutorily defined need. See FY 2026 NOFO at 11–12.

142. The NOFO sets limits on that CoC Bonus funding that will arbitrarily shift funding away from communities with higher relative need to communities with lower relative need. In particular, the NOFO provides that each CoC can apply for CoC Bonus projects worth up to 15 percent of their statutorily defined need—but further establishes minimum and maximum award amounts that actually make CoCs eligible for widely diverging amounts. Id. The specific floors and caps vary based on whether the CoC split or merged in the last three years or not. As an example, the bonus for a CoC that neither split nor merged is a minimum of $500,000 (even if 15 percent of its need is lower) and a maximum of $5 million (even if 15 percent of its need amount is far higher).

143. This means that the amounts CoCs can apply for bear little relation to their actual need. With these inequitable Bonus Limits, the NOFO makes lower-need CoCs eligible for extra funding equal to as much as 61.2 percent of their need, while leaving higher-need CoCs eligible for an amount equal to only as little as 3.5 percent of their need.

144. These Bonus Limits will cause communities with higher rates of homelessness—communities that represent more than 40 percent of the total homeless population—to lose access to nearly $93 million in funding.

145. HUD asserts that these Bonus Limits “afford[] all CoCs a more equitable opportunity to compete for bonus funds,” but it does not consider or explain the inequitable impacts of shifting funding away from communities with higher relative need to communities with lower relative need, nor does it consider alternative approaches. See FY 2026 NOFO at 36.

E. Post-award conditions impose ideological restrictions that are unrelated to the CoC program or otherwise exceed HUD’s authority

146. The FY 2026 NOFO requires successful grantees to agree to award conditions, many of which are the same as or similar to conditions that courts have repeatedly held likely invalid. These award conditions (Post-Award Conditions) include the following.

1. Conditions requiring compliance with executive orders

147. Like the FY 2025 NOFOs that this Court already preliminarily stayed, the FY 2026 NOFO states that grantees “must follow ... Presidential Executive Actions affecting federal financial assistance programs” (E.O. Conditions). FY 2026 NOFO at 106–07. The NOFO lists 11 executive orders that grantees must follow, including:

- a. Executive orders that broadly seek to eradicate all diversity, equity, and inclusion activities. Ending Illegal Discrimination and Restoring Merit-Based Opportunity, Executive Order 14173; Ending Radical and Wasteful Government DEI Programs and Preferencing, Exec. Order 14151; Improving Oversight of Federal Grantmaking, Exec. Order No. 14332;
- b. Executive orders that purport to require adherence to the view that sex is binary and immutable and that people’s gender identities should not be recognized. Defending Women from Gender Ideology Extremism and Restoring Biological Truth to the Federal Government, Exec. Order No. 14168 (“Gender Ideology” Executive Order); Improving Oversight of Federal Grantmaking, Exec. Order No. 14332 (Grantmaking Executive Order);
- c. An executive order that purports to bar grant funds from being used to fund or promote elective abortion. Enforcing the Hyde Amendment, Executive Order 14182;
- d. An executive order directing the end of “support for ‘housing first’ policies.” Ending Crime and Disorder on America’s Streets, Executive Order 14321 (Homelessness Executive Order); and
- e. An executive order that mandates verifying immigration status and seeks to ensure “that Federal payments to States and localities do not, by design or effect, facilitate the subsidization or promotion of illegal immigration, or abet so-called ‘sanctuary’ policies that seek to shield illegal aliens from deportation.” Ending Taxpayer Subsidization of Open Borders, Executive Order 14218.

148. The NOFO also separately requires grantees to comply with “immigration requirements” set forth in the Ending Taxpayer Subsidization of Open Borders Executive Order. FY 2026 NOFO at 107 (capitalization altered).

149. These executive orders instruct federal agencies on what to do but do not purport to impose obligations on the public. Nonetheless, the NOFO’s requirement that grantees “follow” or “[c]ompl[y] with” these executive orders appears to require grantees to act in accordance with those orders’ policies. There is no indication that HUD considered or explained the confusion this would cause or the chilling effect this would have on grantees engaging in wholly lawful activities.

2. Safe Drug Use Condition seeking to eliminate harm reduction

150. The NOFO also includes a post-award condition (Safe Drug Use Condition) requiring grantees to commit to not violating various drug-related laws. FY 2026 NOFO at 108. This mirrors the threshold Safe Drug Use Certification requirement described above, supra ¶ 67, and, for the same reasons as explained above, is meant to deter lawful harm reduction activities and to force grantees to discontinue assistance to any participant who violates a drug-related rule more than once.

3. Provision purporting to restrict judicial relief

151. Finally, the NOFO includes a provision (Judicial Restriction) that purports to restrict courts’ ability to grant relief that would extend beyond the boundaries of that court’s jurisdiction. In particular, the NOFO provides that “if any part or provision of the award agreement or terms of this NOFO are enjoined or held to be void or unenforceable in any jurisdiction, they shall be ineffective as to such jurisdiction.” FY 2026 NOFO at 108 (emphasis added). But courts have authority to enter orders that are effective outside their geographic jurisdictions, including by granting relief to parties that reside outside the jurisdiction and by staying or invalidating agency actions under the Administrative Procedure Act. The NOFO improperly purports to limit this authority, in a brazen separation-of-powers violation.

V. The FY 2026 NOFO Threatens Devastating Harms to Plaintiffs and the Communities They Serve

152. If implemented, the FY 2026 NOFO would withdraw funding that communities rely on to house at least 97,000 formerly homeless people, force tens of thousands of those people back into homelessness, and otherwise undermine communities' homelessness response.

153. This will cause devastating harms to Plaintiffs, members of the Plaintiff Associations (the Alliance and NLIHC), and the homeless and formerly homeless individuals and families they serve.

154. The FY 2026 NOFO's significant changes threaten the same types of harm that the FY 2025 NOFO's changes threatened. Plaintiffs and Plaintiff Associations' members are all but guaranteed to lose significant amounts of funding for existing projects—and, in many instances, will need to scale back or end programs, lay off staff, and withdraw support from vulnerable community members. They will lose hard-earned trust and goodwill in the process, both among landlords and other critical partners and among the individuals and families they serve. The NOFO's unlawful provisions put Plaintiffs and Plaintiff Associations' members at a steep competitive disadvantage if they do not conform to Defendants' wishes—and force them to choose now between adhering to their missions and effective strategies or abandoning them to have a shot at obtaining needed funding.

155. The NOFO is already causing irreparable harm to Plaintiffs and their members, as the NOFO's ideological conditions and departure from effective strategies are causing some providers to withdraw from the CoC program altogether—which in turn forces CoCs to spend their limited resources identifying and training other organizations that can step in.

156. These problems will only get worse when CoCs announce the results of their local competitions—which the NOFO requires them to do by August 11. Given that the new NOFO guarantees that many existing projects will lose funding, CoCs must make impossible choices about which projects to try to save and which to sacrifice. When CoCs make their rankings, projects that do not make the cut will in some instances begin winding down, by halting new enrollments, laying off staff, permanently fracturing longstanding partnerships, and preparing to transition clients out of the housing they rely on.

VI. HUD Is Unreasonably Delaying Finalizing FY 2025 Awards

157. At the same time, HUD has unreasonably delayed finalizing the FY 2025 awards that communities need to run their programs now.

A. Congress enacts a new law to guard against delays in awarding FY 2025 funding

158. For FY 2025, Congress appropriated nearly $4 billion for the CoC program. Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2024, Pub. L. No. 118-42, div. F, tit. II, 138 Stat. 25, 362–63 (2024); Full-Year Continuing Appropriations and Extensions Act, 2025, Pub. L. No. 119-4, §§ 1101(12), 1102, 1105, 11305, 139 Stat. 9, 12, 40 (2025).

159. By statute, HUD was required to competitively award that funding pursuant to a notice of funding opportunity (NOFO). 42 U.S.C. § 11382. Yet it long delayed awarding those funds. In November 2025, it rescinded a lawful two-year NOFO that HUD had previously issued to govern the awards for FY 2024 and 2025 (FY24-25 NOFO) and replaced it with a new NOFO that contained a host of unlawful criteria and other provisions. The late-stage change guaranteed that communities would face significant gaps in funding, and HUD's new NOFO threatened to force hundreds of thousands of people out of their homes.

160. Plaintiffs sued, and in December 2025, this Court preliminarily enjoined HUD from implementing its new NOFO. In addition, to mitigate the by-then-inevitable funding gaps, the Court ordered HUD to take all steps necessary to process renewal awards under the FY24-25 NOFO (short of actually making the awards), so that HUD would be ready to promptly make awards—with no further delays—if and when the Court entered final judgment requiring them to do so.

161. On February 3, 2026, Congress took action to address HUD’s ongoing delays in awarding FY 2025 CoC funding. That day, Congress enacted and the President signed the 2026 Appropriations Act. Pub. L. No. 119-75, div. D, 140 Stat. at 323–437. Although the Act generally deals with FY 2026 funding, Congress also included some new requirements for the previously appropriated FY 2025 CoC funding to minimize the funding gaps communities would continue to face as a result of HUD’s actions.

162. In particular, Section 244 requires HUD, “prior to awarding any amounts through a notice of funding opportunity,” to non-competitively renew for one year all CoC grants (including youth homelessness demonstration projects and shelter plus care projects) that are expiring or have expired in the first quarter of 2026 (i.e., between January 1, 2026 and March 31, 2026). Pub. L. No. 119-75, div. D, tit. II, § 244, 140 Stat. at 422. It also requires HUD to non-competitively renew later-expiring grants “if awards have not been made under a fiscal year 2025 notice of funding opportunity prior to” set dates—April 1 for grants expiring in the second quarter and July 1 for grants expiring in the third and fourth quarters. Id. The requirement to noncompetitively renew projects applies “notwithstanding any inconsistent provisions ... in subtitle C of title IV of the McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act,” 42 U.S.C. §§ 11381–11389. Pub. L. No. 119-75, div. D, tit. II, § 244, 140 Stat. at 422.

B. HUD is unreasonably delaying fulfilling Congress's mandate

163. HUD at this point is required to noncompetitively renew all awards that expired or will expire in all quarters of 2026. This has long been clear:

- a. Upon the 2026 Appropriations Act's enactment on February 3, 2026, HUD was immediately required to noncompetitively renew all awards that expired or would expire in the first quarter of 2026 (Q1 awards).
- b. As of February 17, 2026, HUD acknowledged to Plaintiffs through counsel that it would not be able to make awards under a NOFO by April 1 and therefore would also be required to noncompetitively renew awards expiring in the second quarter of 2026 (Q2 awards).
- c. As of April 1, 2026, it became clear that, for awards expiring in the third and fourth quarters of the year (Q3 and Q4 awards), only two options were feasible: HUD could (1) noncompetitively renew all awards pursuant to the 2026 Appropriations Act or (2) make awards under the FY24-25 NOFO. On April 17, HUD informed Plaintiffs through counsel that HUD planned to take the first option and noncompetitively renew all awards pursuant to the 2026 Appropriations Act. HUD confirmed this plan in a notice filed with the Court on April 24.

164. A project can access its funds only once it has a final grant agreement from HUD, but HUD is unreasonably delaying issuing those agreements.

165. Although the 2026 Appropriations Act was enacted approximately 5 months ago, HUD has sent out grant agreements for only 1970 of the approximately 6,644 required renewals. This means the vast majority of projects—over 70 percent—still have no way to access their FY 2025 grant funds. This inexplicably includes 30 projects whose existing grants expired in Q1.

166. After Plaintiffs first brought HUD's delays to the Court's attention, HUD made some initial progress—but its pace has once again slowed to a crawl. In the week between June 22 and June 22, for example, HUD issued a mere 29 agreements—a pace that, if it continues, would mean all grantees will not be able to access their FY 2025 funding until years after their existing funding expires.

167. HUD has continually created unnecessary roadblocks to completing the required renewals.

168. At the outset, HUD stated to Plaintiffs through counsel that it had to complete “individual reviews” that “require threshold financial-management and risk assessments” before it could determine what awards would be renewed. It did not need to do that, however—and HUD did not undertake such a process in 2021, the last time Congress issued a materially similar directive to noncompetitively renew all expiring grants. See Pub. L. No. 116-260, div. L, tit. IV, § 419, 134 Stat. 1182, 1908 (2020).

169. In any event, the purported need to conduct those reviews could not actually justify Defendants' delays because, pursuant to an earlier order in this case (Dkt. No. 52 at 2–3), HUD should have already largely completed those reviews—and in fact represented to Plaintiffs that they had completed them. If HUD had actually met its obligations under the order, any additional review would have been minimal and would not have justified HUD's delays in even just announcing what awards it would make.

170. HUD also misleadingly suggested that grant agreements were delayed because grantees needed to satisfy their “special conditions” before HUD could issue the agreements. Dkt. No. 88 at 4 (“The issuance of grant agreements depends on when awardees submit documentation to HUD to satisfy any special conditions on the grants.”). But, although HUD failed to mention it, very few grants carry special conditions (for example, only 16 of the 608 Q1 awards). Thus, the (purported) need for grantees to satisfy conditions cannot explain the delay in issuing grant agreements in the vast majority of cases.

171. HUD has also exacerbated the delays by adding the unnecessary step of requiring HUD to countersign each agreement after the grantee signs it. In the past, HUD would send out an agreement, and it would become final immediately upon the grantee's signing it—meaning the grantee could promptly draw down funds. In other words, HUD would sign first. Now, however, HUD will not treat the agreement as final—and allow grantees to draw down funds—until the grantee returns the signed agreement and HUD countersigns it. There is no reason to change this order and thereby add this additional step that only causes further delay.

172. For weeks, HUD has represented that hundreds of Q2 renewals required unspecified “additional preparation”—separate from the special grant conditions—before they could be finalized. After making minimal progress in completing that preparation for some Q2 grants, the number of Q2 grants requiring that work inexplicably spiked, from 266 on June 8 to 299 on June 15.

173. HUD continues to stall in taking the steps necessary to finalize the renewal awards that the 2026 Appropriations Act mandates.

174. As a result of HUD's delays, some projects, including projects of Plaintiffs and Plaintiff Associations' members, have already gone without funding for months. And because of HUD's ongoing delays, projects with grants expiring later in the year will also face gaps in funding as the year goes on.

175. HUD’s ongoing delays in finalizing awards are leaving service providers without critical funding—in some instances forcing them to lay off staff, turn away or abruptly end assistance for people needing help, or even end critical programs.

CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

Count 1:
Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)
In Excess of Statutory Authority

176. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate the above as if set forth fully herein.

177. The Administrative Procedure Act (APA) provides that a court “shall” “hold unlawful and set aside agency action” that is “in excess of statutory jurisdiction, authority, or limitations, or short of statutory right.” 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)(C).

178. The issuance of the FY 2026 NOFO is a final agency action subject to review under the APA.

179. Defendants lack statutory authority to impose the FY 2026 NOFO’s Set-Aside, Safe Drug Use Condition and Certification, Discriminatory Disability Priority, Self-Sufficiency Criteria, Subjective “Risk Review” and “Additional Factor” Criteria, E.O. Conditions, and Judicial Restriction. They also lack statutory authority to impose the Non-Statutory Threshold Criteria to Tier 1 projects. Neither HUD’s organic statute nor the statutes authorizing the CoC program allow the agency to impose these restrictions and requirements.

180. Those provisions of the FY 2026 NOFO must be declared unlawful and set aside as “in excess of statutory jurisdiction, authority, or limitations.” 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)(C).

Count 2:
Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)
Contrary to Law
(against HUD Defendants)

181. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate the above as if set forth fully herein.

182. The APA provides that a court “shall” “hold unlawful and set aside agency action” that is “not in accordance with law.” 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)(A).

183. The FY 2026 NOFO’s Set-Aside is contrary to the Homeless Assistance Act, as amended by the HEARTH Act, including:

- a. 42 U.S.C. § 11386b(d), which permits HUD to provide incentives only for activities proven effective at combatting homelessness, because the Set-Aside effectively disincentivizes the types of projects Congress has determined are proven effective strategies for addressing homelessness, while incentivizing other, unproven projects that HUD lacks authority to incentivize;
- b. 42 U.S.C. § 11386c(b), which provides that funds appropriated for the CoC program “shall be available for the renewal of contracts” for permanent housing, because the Set-Aside ensures that a large portion of funding will not be available for the renewal of permanent housing contracts; and
- c. 42 U.S.C. § 11386c(b), which requires HUD to decide whether to renew permanent housing awards based on two enumerated factors, because the Set-Aside ensures that HUD will make the decision whether to renew permanent housing projects based on other, unpermitted factors.

184. The FY 2026 NOFO’s Discriminatory Disability Priority, which deprioritizes individuals with mental disabilities or substance abuse disorders for Permanent Supportive Housing, contradicts multiple binding statutory and regulatory provisions:

- a. The Americans with Disabilities Act, 42 U.S.C. §§ 12131–12134, 12181–89, and the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, 29 U.S.C. § 794, which bar discrimination on the basis of disability, because the Discriminatory Disability Priority discriminates based on a person’s type of disability and encourages providers to likewise discriminate;
- b. HUD’s regulations prohibiting exclusion from housing based on type of disability, as the Discriminatory Disability Priority is likely to result in individuals with disabilities not prioritized being excluded from housing. See 24 C.F.R. § 578.93(b)(7) (“[N]o otherwise eligible individuals with disabilities . . . may be excluded on the grounds that they do not have a particular disability.”); and
- c. HUD’s regulations directly applying the Rehabilitation Act’s prohibition on discrimination on the basis of disability to HUD’s federally funded and federally conducted programs and activities. 24 C.F.R. § 8.4(b) (prohibiting discrimination on the basis of disability); id. § 8.3 (defining disability to encompass physical and mental impairments, including “emotional illness, drug addiction and alcoholism” as covered disabilities); id. § 9.130(b)(1)(ii) (prohibiting discrimination); id. § 9.103 (defining disability to encompass physical and mental impairments, including “emotional illness, drug addiction and alcoholism”).

185. The Non-Statutory Threshold Criteria are contrary to law as applied to Tier 1 projects because the 2026 Appropriations Act requires HUD to make awards to Tier 1 projects based only on the local CoC's selections, so long as the projects are consistent with statutory requirements. See Pub. L. No. 119-75, div. D, tit. II, 140 Stat. at 399.

186. The FY 2026 NOFO's E.O. Conditions are contrary to law insofar as some require grantees to comply with Executive Orders imposing the view that sex is binary and immutable and that people's gender identities should not be recognized. See Defending Women from Gender Ideology Extremism and Restoring Biological Truth to the Federal Government, Exec. Order No. 14168, 90 Fed. Reg. 8615 (Jan. 30, 2025) ("Gender Ideology" Executive Order); Improving Oversight of Federal Grantmaking, Exec. Order No. 14332, 90 Fed. Reg. 38929, 38931 (Aug. 7, 2025) (Grantmaking Executive Order). These E.O. Conditions violate HUD's Equal Access regulation as well as Title VII and other laws barring discrimination on the basis of gender identity.

187. The FY 2026 NOFO's Set-Aside, Discriminatory Disability Priority, Non-Statutory Threshold Criteria, and E.O. Conditions must be declared unlawful and set aside as "not in accordance with law" and "in excess of statutory jurisdiction, authority, or limitations." 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)(A), (C).

Count 3:
Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)
Arbitrary and Capricious
(against HUD Defendants)

188. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate the above as if set forth fully herein.

189. Under the APA, a "court shall . . . hold unlawful and set aside agency action, findings, and conclusions found to be . . . arbitrary, capricious, [or] an abuse of discretion." 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)(A).

190. "An agency action qualifies as 'arbitrary' or 'capricious' if it is not 'reasonable and reasonably explained.'" Ohio v. Env't Prot. Agency, 603 U.S. 279, 292 (2024) (quoting FCC v. Prometheus Radio Project, 592 U.S. 414, 423 (2021)). A court must therefore “ensure, among other things, that the agency has offered ‘a satisfactory explanation for its action[,] including a rational connection between the facts found and the choice made.’” Id. (alteration in original) (quoting Motor Vehicle Mfrs. Assn. of United States, Inc. v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co., 463 U.S. 29, 43 (1983)). “[A]n agency cannot simply ignore ‘an important aspect of the problem’” addressed by its action. Id. at 293.

191. The Challenged Provisions are arbitrary and capricious.

192. HUD has also entirely failed to consider important aspects of the problem when adopting these provisions. Among its many errors, it failed to consider how drastically reducing funding available to renew existing projects, and disfavoring proven permanent housing solutions, would lead to a catastrophic increase in homelessness. It also failed to consider how the other provisions would exclude or deter people experiencing homelessness from accessing housing.

193. HUD failed to provide a rational explanation for its departure from the proven strategies that reduce homelessness to the punitive and untested practices in the NOFO that do not advance the CoC program’s statutory purposes. HUD also failed to account for the consequences of increased homelessness and associated human suffering and increased urgent demand for social services caused by the Challenged Provisions on impacted communities.

194. HUD also failed to adequately explain, and failed to consider the reliance interests related to, the changes in HUD processes. HUD has previously implemented policy shifts more incrementally, so as to limit strain on providers and not risk increasing homelessness. Here, HUD is seeking to impose maximalist changes and a radical overhaul through this NOFO without adequately explaining why such a process is necessary and how it considered the reliance interests of providers and their clients in HUD's prior practices.

195. HUD also failed to consider or explain how the Set-Aside principally for transitional housing and supportive-services-only projects is consistent with Congress having identified only two activities that have proven effective, both of which are permanent housing strategies.

196. HUD similarly did not consider how the Challenged Provisions promoting rapid encampment reduction undermined the CoC program's purpose of "minimizing the trauma and dislocation" when rehousing homeless individuals. See 24 C.F.R. § 578.1(b)(2).

197. HUD failed to articulate a rational justification for, or consider the impact of, its abandonment of proven policies like supporting stable, permanent housing without conditions, or for imposing new restrictions or incentives on grantees, like forgoing all "harm reduction" activities.

198. HUD did not consider how some of the Challenged Provisions violate or are in tension with binding requirements, such as HUD's Equal Access Rule, other prohibitions on gender identity discrimination, prohibitions on disability discrimination, and provisions of the Violence Against Women Act and Family Violence Prevention Services Act barring grantees from imposing service requirements as a condition of providing housing. HUD did not explain how grantees could effectively comply with these (or similar) binding requirements while also complying with the NOFO's requirements or putting forth applications that would be competitive.

199. HUD has failed to offer any rational justification for its decision to prioritize individuals with physical and developmental disabilities over those with mental, emotional, or substance abuse disorders, in contravention of HUD regulations and binding statutory requirements. Agency guidance that treats participants differently on the basis of disability and incentivizes applicants for federal funding to do the same—thereby violating federal and state law—is arbitrary and capricious. HUD relies on stereotypes about individuals with physical and developmental disabilities being unable to move towards “self-sufficiency” while those with other types of disabilities are cast as “able-bodied” and “able to recover.” FY 2026 NOFO at 30. This conclusory and discriminatory narrative is not supported by any facts or evidence and is not a rational factor for HUD to consider in implementing the CoC program.

200. And HUD failed to adequately address the substantial reliance interests of CoC applicants, including Plaintiffs and their members and the communities they serve, in withdrawing support from many ongoing permanent housing programs; the reliance interests of people living in permanent housing whose homes will be lost; the reliance interests of programs organized to provide services to their communities through a Housing First model; and the reliance interests of people in those communities that have benefited from CoC services, but will now be excluded or deterred.

201. The Challenged Provisions must be declared unlawful and set aside as “arbitrary, capricious, [or] an abuse of discretion.” 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)(A).

Count 4:
Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)
Not in Observance of Procedure Required by Law
(against HUD Defendants)

202. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate the above as if set forth fully herein.

203. The APA provides that a court “shall” “hold unlawful and set aside agency action” found to be “without observance of procedure required by law.” 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)(D).

204. The requirement to observe procedure “required by law” includes not just procedures required by governing statutes, but also procedures required by the agency’s own regulations.

205. The Set-Aside constitutes a substantive rule, but Defendants adopted it without complying with the notice-and-comment requirements set forth in HUD’s own regulations, 24 C.F.R. § 10.1, and thus failed to observe procedures required by law.

206. In addition, with the Set-Aside, HUD created an incentive for transitional housing and supportive-services-only projects. But HUD did not first engage in notice and comment to make a determination that those activities have been proven effective, as required by 42 U.S.C. § 11386b(d).

207. The FY 2026 NOFO’s Set-Aside must be declared unlawful and set aside as “without observance of procedure required by law.” 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)(D).

Count 5:
Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. § 706(1)
Agency Action Unlawfully Withheld
(against HUD Defendants)

208. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate the above as if set forth fully herein.

209. The APA provides that a court “shall” “compel agency action unlawfully withheld or unreasonably delayed.” 5 U.S.C. § 706(1).

210. By statute, HUD must “inform each collaborative applicant, at a time concurrent with the release of the notice of funding availability for the grants, of the pro rata estimated grant amount under this part for the geographic area represented by the collaborative applicant.” 42 U.S.C. § 11386a(b)(2)(A). That “estimated grant amount” is either an amount determined by formula under the governing regulations or the amount “necessary to provide 1 year of renewal funding for all expiring” awards for that area, whichever is higher. See id. § 11386a(b)(2)(B).

211. By statute, HUD was required to issue the NOFO for FY 2026 CoC funding by June 1, 2026. Pub. L. No. 119-75, div. D, tit. II, 140 Stat. 173, 399.

212. HUD issued the FY 2026 NOFO on June 1, but did not concurrently inform each collaborative applicant of its “pro rata estimated grant amount” as required by 42 U.S.C. § 11386a(b)(2)(A). Nor has it done so to date.

213. HUD has unlawfully withheld mandatory agency action, and this Court should compel HUD to release CoCs’ “estimated grant amounts” immediately.

Count 6:
Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)
In Excess of Statutory Authority
(against OMB Defendants<sup>2</sup>)

214. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate the above as if set forth fully herein.

215. The Apportionment Footnotes restrict HUD’s ability to obligate appropriated CoC funding and are final agency action subject to review under the APA.

216. OMB Defendants lack statutory authority to impose the Apportionment Footnotes.

217. The Apportionment Footnotes must be declared unlawful and set aside as “in excess of statutory jurisdiction, authority, or limitations.” 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)(C).

Count 7:
Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)
Arbitrary and Capricious
(against OMB Defendants)

218. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate the above as if set forth fully herein.

219. The Apportionment Footnotes are arbitrary and capricious and must be set aside under the APA, 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)(A).

220. OMB Defendants provided no explanation, let alone a reasoned one, for their decision to impose the Apportionment Footnotes.

221. OMB Defendants also failed to consider the impacts of imposing those restrictions on the effectiveness of CoC-funded projects or to offer any rational connection between evidence regarding strategies proven effective at reducing homelessness and the Footnotes' restrictions.

222. The Apportionment Footnotes must be declared unlawful and set aside as “arbitrary, capricious, [or] an abuse of discretion.” 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)(A).

Count 8:
Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)
Contrary to the Constitution
(against all Defendants)

223. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate the above as if set forth fully herein.

224. Under the APA, a “court shall . . . hold unlawful and set aside agency action, findings, and conclusions found to be . . . contrary to constitutional right, power, privilege, or immunity.” 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)(B).

225. As described in counts 9-11, the Apportionment Footnotes and portions of the FY 2026 NOFO violate various constitutional provisions.

226. The Apportionment Footnotes and the FY 2026 NOFO's Set-Aside, Safe Drug Use Condition and Certification, Discriminatory Disability Priority, Self-Sufficiency Criteria, Local Policies Criterion, Subjective “Risk Review” and “Additional Factor” Criteria, E.O. Conditions, Judicial Restriction, and (as applied to Tier 1 projects) the Non-Statutory Threshold Criteria must be declared unlawful and set aside as “contrary to constitutional right, power, privilege, or immunity,” 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)(B).

Count 9:
Violation of Separation of Powers
(against all Defendants)

227. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate the above as if set forth fully herein.

228. Under the APA, a “court shall . . . hold unlawful and set aside agency action, findings, and conclusions found to be . . . contrary to constitutional right, power, privilege, or immunity.” 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)(B).

229. This Court has inherent equitable power to enjoin executive conduct that violates the Constitution, including the separation of powers. See Free Enter. Fund v. Pub. Co. Acct. Oversight Bd., 561 U.S. 477, 491 n.2 (2010).

230. The Constitution vests Congress—not the Executive—with legislative powers, U.S. Const. art. 1, § 1, the spending power, U.S. Const. art. 1, § 8, cl. 1, and the appropriations power, U.S. Const. art. 1, § 9, cl. 7. Absent an express delegation, only Congress is entitled to attach conditions to federal funds.

231. The Constitution exclusively grants the power of the purse to Congress, not the President.

232. Neither the President nor an executive agency can enact, amend, or repeal statutes. Clinton v. City of New York, 524 U.S. 417, 439–40 (1998); see U.S. Const. art. I, § 7, cl. 2.

233. Congress has not authorized OMB Defendants to impose the Apportionment Footnotes, nor has it authorized HUD Defendants to impose the Set-Aside, Safe Drug Use Condition and Certification, Discriminatory Disability Priority, Self-Sufficiency Criteria, Subjective “Risk Review” and “Additional Factor” Criteria, E.O. Conditions, Judicial Restriction, or (as applied to Tier 1 projects) the Non-Statutory Threshold Criteria.

234. By imposing these conditions, Defendants are unilaterally attaching new conditions to federal funding without authorization from Congress.

235. For these reasons, the Apportionment Footnotes and those provisions of the FY 2026 NOFO violate constitutional separation-of-powers protections, and Defendants must be enjoined from enforcing or implementing those provisions.

Count 10:
Violation of the Spending Clause
(against all Defendants)

236. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate the above as if set forth fully herein.

237. The Spending Clause of the U.S. Constitution provides that “Congress”—not the Executive—“shall have Power to lay and collect Taxes, Duties, Imposts and Excises, to pay the Debts and provide for the common Defence and general Welfare of the United States.” U.S. Const. art. I, § 8, cl. 1.

238. As described above, the Apportionment Footnotes and FY 2026 NOFO violate the separation of powers because multiple provisions are neither expressly nor impliedly authorized by Congress. For the same reasons, the Apportionment Footnotes and those provisions of the FY 2026 NOFO violate the Spending Clause.

239. The Spending Clause also requires recipients to have fair notice of conditions that apply to federal funds disbursed to them. Pennhurst State Sch. & Hosp. v. Halderman, 451 U.S. 1, 17, 25 (1981). The grant conditions must be set forth “unambiguously.” Arlington Cent. Sch. Dist. Bd. of Educ. v. Murphy, 548 U.S. 291, 296 (2006).

240. Moreover, funding restrictions may only impose conditions that are reasonably related to the federal interest in the project and the project’s objectives. South Dakota v. Dole, 483 U.S. 203, 207–08 (1987).

241. Provisions of the FY 2026 NOFO violate the Spending Clause by:

- a. Imposing conditions that are ambiguous, including E.O. Conditions that purport to require grantees to comply with executive orders directed to federal agencies and Safe Drug Use Condition and Certification that suggest, without explaining, that various federal laws in fact prohibit long-permitted activities;
- b. Imposing E.O. Conditions that are not germane to the stated purpose of grant program funds; and
- c. With respect to the E.O. Conditions requiring compliance with the “Gender Ideology” and Grantmaking Executive Orders, imposing a condition that purports to require grant recipients to act unconstitutionally by discriminating on the basis of gender identity and sex.

242. For these reasons, the Apportionment Footnotes and the FY 2026 NOFO’s the Set-Aside, Safe Drug Use Condition and Certification, Discriminatory Disability Priority, Self-Sufficiency Criteria, Subjective “Risk Review” and “Additional Factor” Criteria, E.O. Conditions, Judicial Restriction, and (as applied to Tier 1 projects) the Non-Statutory Threshold Criteria violate the Spending Clause, and Defendants must be enjoined from enforcing or implementing them.

Count 11:
First Amendment — Free Speech Clause
Local Policies Criterion and E.O. Conditions
(against HUD Defendants)

243. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate the above as if set forth fully herein. This count is asserted on behalf of Plaintiffs the Alliance, NLIHC, Crossroads, Youth Pride, and Plaintiff Associations’ members.

244. This Court has inherent equitable power to enjoin executive conduct that violates the Constitution. See Free Enter. Fund, 561 U.S. at 491 n.2.

245. The First Amendment to the United States Constitution provides that the government “shall make no law . . . abridging the freedom of speech.” U.S. Const. amend. I.

246. While the government may in some circumstances attach conditions to federal funding that “affect the recipient’s exercise of its First Amendment rights,” there are limits. Agency for Int’l Dev. v. All. for Open Soc’y Int’l, Inc., 570 U.S. 205, 214–15 (2013). The government may not restrict “protected [speech] outside the scope of the federally funded program.” Id. at 217 (citing Rust v. Sullivan, 500 U.S. 173, 197 (1991)). In addition, even in providing what recipients may do with government funding, “the Government may not aim at the suppression of dangerous ideas.” Nat’l Endowment for the Arts v. Finley, 524 U.S. 569, 587 (1998) (cleaned up). And where the government imposes a funding condition “not relevant to the objectives of the program,” that can violate the First Amendment. See All. for Open Soc’y, 570 U.S. at 214.

247. The Local Policies Criterion violates the First Amendment insofar as it requires applicants to demonstrate that they will “not interfere with or impede” local efforts to advance certain types of local policies, and thereby disadvantages applicants who advocate against or otherwise express disagreement with the policies the NOFO favors.

248. The E.O. Conditions violate the First Amendment insofar as they require grantees to comply with the “Gender Ideology” and Grantmaking Executive Orders, which impose the view that sex is binary and immutable and that people’s gender identities should not be recognized.

249. Those Conditions restrict speech outside the scope of the funded program. The Local Policies Criterion penalizes CoC applicants that advocate against or express disagreement about the listed local policies, regardless of whether they do so with CoC funds. The “Gender Ideology” E.O. Conditions strays outside the federal program by requiring grantees to adopt the government’s view as their own, as there is no way to avoid the topic during day-to-day interactions with people.

250. Those Conditions are also designed to suppress ideas that the Administration deems dangerous—namely, that criminalizing homelessness and substance use and promoting involuntary commitment are counterproductive to public safety and will make homelessness worse, and that sex is nonbinary and that a person can have a gender identity distinct from their sex assigned at birth. The censorious purpose of these funding conditions render them unconstitutional in violation of the First Amendment.

251. That the E.O. Conditions have no relevance to the CoC program’s purposes of addressing homelessness further shows that the Conditions aim at the suppression of an idea with which the Administration disagrees. That censorious purpose and lack of relation to the objectives of the CoC program additionally render them unconstitutional under the First Amendment.

252. No compelling government interest justifies Defendants’ viewpoint-based targeting of speech, and the Local Priorities Criterion and E.O. Conditions are not the least restrictive means available to advance whatever interest they serve.

253. The Local Priorities Criterion and E.O. Conditions requiring compliance with the “Gender Ideology” and Grantmaking Executive Orders violate the First Amendment rights of the nonprofit Plaintiffs, including the Association Plaintiffs and their members, and Defendants must be enjoined from enforcing or implementing them.

Count 12:
Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. § 706(1)
Agency Action Unreasonably Delayed
(against HUD Defendants)

254. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate the above as if set forth fully herein.

255. The APA provides that a court “shall” “compel agency action unlawfully withheld or unreasonably delayed.” 5 U.S.C. § 706(1).

256. Congress appropriated funds for the CoC program for FY 2025, and HUD is required to award them. Pub. L. No. 118-42, div. F, tit. II, 138 Stat. 25, 362–63; Pub. L. No. 119-4, §§ 1101(12), 1102, 1105, 139 Stat. 9, 12; see also 42 U.S.C. § 11382. The duty to award those funds is nondiscretionary and includes the duty to actually make funds available to grantees.

257. In addition, the 2026 Appropriations Act governs what FY 2025 awards HUD must make for the CoC program. The Act requires HUD to noncompetitively renew for one year all CoC awards expiring during the first quarter of 2026. Because HUD did not make awards under a NOFO by April 1, 2026, the Act also requires HUD to noncompetitively renew for one year all CoC awards expiring during the second quarter of 2026. And because HUD did not make awards under a NOFO by July 1, 2026, the Act also requires HUD to noncompetitively renew for one year all CoC awards expiring during the third and fourth quarters of 2026 as well. These duties are nondiscretionary.

258. HUD has unreasonably delayed making FY 2025 awards as required by the 2026 Appropriations Act, including by unreasonably delaying issuing and then finalizing grant agreements so that grantees may actually draw down funds.

259. The Court should thus compel Defendants to make final awards of FY 2025 funding for the CoC program expeditiously.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs request that this Court:

- A. Declare unlawful, vacate, and set aside the FY 2026 NOFO;
- B. Stay the FY 2026 NOFO pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 705 and issue all other necessary and appropriate process to preserve status or rights pending conclusion of the proceedings;
- C. Preliminarily and permanently enjoin Defendants, their agents, and all persons acting in concert or participation with Defendants from imposing or implementing the Challenged Provisions, or any substantively similar provisions, on any future HUD CoC competitions or awards in any manner, including by making funding unavailable for renewal awards, prioritizing strategies that do not meet statutory requirements for incentives and bonuses, prioritizing people with certain disabilities over people with other disabilities, requiring applicants to meet the criteria to be considered for an award or to receive an award, by considering those criteria in selecting awardees, or by requiring grantees to comply with such criteria upon obtaining an award;
- D. Declare Defendants' failure to inform collaborative applicants of their pro rata estimated grant amount to be unlawful and declare Defendants to be in violation of the APA and 42 U.S.C. § 11386a(b)(2)(A);
- E. Enter an order requiring Defendants to inform collaborative applicants of their pro rata estimated grant amount promptly;
- F. Declare Defendants' ongoing delays in noncompetitively renewing grants expiring in calendar year 2026 to be unreasonable and declare Defendants to be in violation of the APA and Section 244 of the 2026 Appropriations Act;
- G. Enter an order requiring Defendants to finalize renewal awards of projects expiring in 2026 expeditiously, including by completing all steps necessary for grantees to access funds, within a timeframe established by the Court;

- H. Preliminarily and permanently enjoin Defendants from retaliating against any Plaintiff or member of the Plaintiff associations for participating in this lawsuit or taking any adverse action based on any Plaintiff's participation in this lawsuit, including but not limited to reducing the amount of a grant award to that Plaintiff or Plaintiff's member; refusing to issue, process, sign, or approve grant applications, grant agreements, or subgrant agreements; refusing to issue, process, sign, or approve any invoice or request for payment, or reducing the amount of such approval or payment; or opening retaliatory investigations;
- I. Award Plaintiffs reasonable costs and attorneys' fees; and
- J. Grant any other relief that the Court deems fit and proper.

Authority For Civil Cover Sheet

The JS 44 civil cover sheet and the information contained herein neither replaces nor supplements the filings and service of pleading or other papers as required by law, except as provided by local rules of court. This form, approved by the Judicial Conference of the United States in September 1974, is required for the use of the Clerk of Court for the purpose of initiating the civil docket sheet. Consequently, a civil cover sheet is submitted to the Clerk of Court for each civil complaint filed. The attorney filing a case should complete the form as follows:

- I.(a) Plaintiffs-Defendants. Enter names (last, first, middle initial) of plaintiff and defendant. If the plaintiff or defendant is a government agency, use only the full name or standard abbreviations. If the plaintiff or defendant is an official within a government agency, identify first the agency and then the official, giving both name and title.
- (b) County of Residence. For each civil case filed, except U.S. plaintiff cases, enter the name of the county where the first listed plaintiff resides at the time of filing. In U.S. plaintiff cases, enter the name of the county in which the first listed defendant resides at the time of filing. (NOTE: In land condemnation cases, the county of residence of the "defendant" is the location of the tract of land involved.)
- (c) Attorneys. Enter the firm name, address, telephone number, and attorney of record. If there are several attorneys, list them on an attachment, noting in this section "(see attachment)".
- II. Jurisdiction. The basis of jurisdiction is set forth under Rule 8(a), F.R.Cv.P., which requires that jurisdictions be shown in pleadings. Place an "X" in one of the boxes. If there is more than one basis of jurisdiction, precedence is given in the order shown below.
- United States plaintiff. (1) Jurisdiction based on 28 U.S.C. 1345 and 1348. Suits by agencies and officers of the United States are included here. United States defendant. (2) When the plaintiff is suing the United States, its officers or agencies, place an "X" in this box.
- Federal question. (3) This refers to suits under 28 U.S.C. 1331, where jurisdiction arises under the Constitution of the United States, an amendment to the Constitution, an act of Congress or a treaty of the United States. In cases where the U.S. is a party, the U.S. plaintiff or defendant code takes precedence, and box 1 or 2 should be marked.
- Diversity of citizenship. (4) This refers to suits under 28 U.S.C. 1332, where parties are citizens of different states. When Box 4 is checked, the citizenship of the different parties must be checked. (See Section III below; NOTE: federal question actions take precedence over diversity cases.)
- III. Residence (citizenship) of Principal Parties. This section of the JS 44 is to be completed if diversity of citizenship was indicated above. Mark this section for each principal party.
- IV. Nature of Suit. Place an "X" in the appropriate box. If there are multiple nature of suit codes associated with the case, pick the nature of suit code that is most applicable. Click here for: Nature of Suit Code Descriptions.
- V. Origin. Place an "X" in one of the seven boxes.
- Original Proceedings. (1) Cases which originate in the United States district courts.
- Removed from State Court. (2) Proceedings initiated in state courts may be removed to the district courts under Title 28 U.S.C., Section 1441.
- Remanded from Appellate Court. (3) Check this box for cases remanded to the district court for further action. Use the date of remand as the filing date.
- Reinstated or Reopened. (4) Check this box for cases reinstated or reopened in the district court. Use the reopening date as the filing date.
- Transferred from Another District. (5) For cases transferred under Title 28 U.S.C. Section 1404(a). Do not use this for within district transfers or multidistrict litigation transfers.
- Multidistrict Litigation – Transfer. (6) Check this box when a multidistrict case is transferred into the district under authority of Title 28 U.S.C. Section 1407.
- Multidistrict Litigation – Direct File. (8) Check this box when a multidistrict case is filed in the same district as the Master MDL docket.
- PLEASE NOTE THAT THERE IS NOT AN ORIGIN CODE 7. Origin Code 7 was used for historical records and is no longer relevant due to changes in statute.
- VI. Cause of Action. Report the civil statute directly related to the cause of action and give a brief description of the cause. Do not cite jurisdictional statutes unless diversity. Example: U.S. Civil Statute: 47 USC 553 Brief Description: Unauthorized reception of cable service.
- VII. Requested in Complaint. Class Action. Place an "X" in this box if you are filing a class action under Rule 23, F.R.Cv.P.
- Demand. In this space enter the actual dollar amount being demanded or indicate other demand, such as a preliminary injunction.
- Jury Demand. Check the appropriate box to indicate whether or not a jury is being demanded.
- VIII. Related Cases. This section of the JS 44 is used to reference related cases, if any. If there are related cases, insert the docket numbers and the corresponding judge names for such cases.

Date and Attorney Signature. Date and sign the civil cover sheet.
